As for the second, the point of the story is a little more philosophical than I expected. Take a look at the below short video and I will explain. I posted this trailer because I wanted to share something important and fun with you guys. This is the trailer for the upcoming RPG Maker VX Ace game entitled “Dragon’s Rage”. The game is coming out in March and I have been working on this story for years. My personal goal with this story is to show you guys the tremendous story crafting potential that RPG Maker VX Ace has. The gameplay for this game will be a hybrid of the classic Dynasty Warrior and Dark Sun gaming mechanics. It’s a hack and slash adventure that is action packed and a blast to play. A good number of enemies are going to have unique skills that you can use against them, as well as having a multitude of different skills that you can use against them. There are even a number of NPC enemies that have their own dialogue. There will be plenty of items that can be found throughout the game. I’m already starting to develop some things, like a second type of attack, a potion with healing, a potion with a small bit of stamina, and a map system. RPG Maker VX Ace has a number of new and interesting features that come with it, like a new camera system that is completely different from the RPG Maker VX Ace formula. The real RPG Maker VX Ace game only has three (3) camera types:

Panorama, Zoom In, and Zoom Out. There are also camera modes like Perspective and Third Person View. The new camera system that comes with RPG Maker VX Ace has five (5) camera types: Lazy, Tick-Tock, Idle, Camera Flash, and Camera Up. There are also mode like Orthogonal, Bug, and Inverted Perspective. In other news, I am currently working on a project where I plan to release a live stream once a week for the next month. It will probably be once a week. I will probably post the link on the blog when it’s ready. I’ve got a few other small projects to work on first, but I will get to this project when I have more time.

Besides that, I have been researching a lot of information and reading everything I can about the latest SCEE version of RPG Maker VX Ace. This could turn into another entry on the heroanddaughterpc Not only me, but I often don't get around to seeing what others have. But today I watched all parts of the movie "Into the Wild" and I can't help but say a couple of good words about this amazing movie. I will not say that the film is generally kind and shows that you need to love your family, help those in need, and so on. These words have long become a commonplace for all films and so on. But for me the film is really something new. fffad4f19a
