Look, most people don't know this, but that old cement grout is porous. It soaks up water like a sponge. That trapped water is what causes the mould and those nasty mystery leaks, damaging the walls around your shower service in Altona North. If you're noticing any of these signs, it's time to act:

- Crumbly grout that scratches easily.
- Persistent mould, no matter how much you clean.
- Paint bubbling on nearby skirting boards.
- White, salty build-up on the grout lines.
