

The background image shows a person with curly hair sitting at a desk in a dimly lit room. They are working on a laptop, which displays a video editing interface with multiple tracks. To the left of the laptop, a smartphone is mounted on a tripod, showing a video of a person. Above the phone and laptop, several floating icons and thumbnails are visible, including a play button, a heart, and various landscape and portrait photos. The overall scene suggests a content creator or video editor working on their online presence.
