More Than Just Booking Flights

A traveller heading over for a family wedding won't book the same way as someone packing for a trek. One person wants the shortest trip. Another doesn't mind a longer stop if it saves money. The ticket only makes sense when it matches the reason for travelling. That's why many people searching for cheap flights from Melbourne to Kathmandu don't end up picking the first fare they see.

More Than Just Booking Flights

A second look takes less than a minute and might save a long wait at another airport or baggage you didn't expect to pay for.
